> About us

There are lots of providers that promise to drive up standards in your school or trust. However, when it comes to the guidance, resources and CPD you can trust to genuinely help you and your team thrive, most schools choose The Key.

With time and budgets squeezed, you don't need an overwhelming library of resources to sift through and videos your team will consume passively. You need the resources that matter to your school, your staff and your governors right now, designed for them to actively engage and make a real impact. Sometimes that's a simple factsheet, sometimes an interactive tool helping you organise and generate resources, and sometimes it's high-impact, expert-led live training.

And with all of our resources being quality assured by an in-house team of education specialists, you know that you and your team are accessing support you can trust. The support that matters, for the decisions that count.

Rated the must-have support
by 8 out of 10 school leaders

With 4,314 resources, The Key offers the most comprehensive, time-saving support to schools. Over 80% of school leaders rated The Key as an essential resource, worth every penny.

> What makes us different?

Why over half of all schools choose The Key over other providers, every day.

The knowledge you need to act

Our unrivalled in-house team of education specialists starts with your needs and develops the right form of support that will be most meaningful to you. Being an educator, you know that there's no one single learning format that fits every situation, which is why we carefully choose the format that best supports the task in hand.

The highest quality standards

We believe that quality can't be outsourced. Because when time is tight you need resources you can trust, that deliver the right answers and the immediate training impact you need. That's why our dedicated in-house team of education specialists anticipates your needs and quality assures every single resource.

In-depth support for all staff and governors, covering much more than compliance alone

We give you the tools and resources you need to be compliant – and, where needed, those resources are solicitor-approved. But your role isn't about ticking boxes. When you're accountable for every decision, you need the confidence that your whole team has deep and comprehensive support to navigate every challenge and all aspects of their role.
